Delcam PowerMill Pro Delcam:Â .Q: Using c or assembly in the emulator I want to implement a simple counter and I'd like to do the best job possible. I have a variable called current_count in x86 assembly, and I'd like to convert it into an int in the emulator. The reason I need to do it here is because I want the counter to be visible on the draw screen. I'd like to do it as efficient as possible and not use too much space in flash. Is there a way I can do this? A: QEMU has the concept of different "emulator" modes. The easiest way to convert your assembly into C is to use x86_emulate to launch QEMU with the --one-executable-file option: $ qemu-system-x86_64 --one-executable-file --machine ZX Spectrum --mapping big_comp.rom big_comp.rom Press any key to continue... Now, you can do your conversion by changing the first line of your assembly file to .model flat, c and changing the first line of your assembly function to .code // // ConfigViewController.swift // QiniuOS // // Created by Tencent on 4/6 3e33713323
