FloppyGIS is the most useful GIS app on the planet. It has multiple use cases but your primary use is as a georeferencing tool. It does all the things that a standard map viewer does but uses and stores georeferenced data instead of photographic data. It also does not have the overhead of graphical tools or set-up which is why it is the most simple map viewer on the planet. This is a universal app with very little set up and is equally as easy to use on a Mac or a PC. You can do everything from adding contours to exploring featured layers.
