The Elden Ring is a device that is uniquely created for each player. Your position as the leader of the people and your authority as an Elden Lord depends on the combined power of the Rings of Power. Three-dimensional high-resolution dual-pulse steady-state free precession for fast slice-selective inversion-recovery. Slice-selective inversion-recovery imaging with steady-state free precession in three dimensions (3D-IR ss-SPIR) has recently been demonstrated to reduce imaging times by a factor of three to five compared to conventional full-volume ss-IR. However, for imaging of moving objects or in applications where they are applied, 3D-IR ss-SPIR cannot yet offer the desired performance, in particular limited resolution. In this work, we describe the implementation of a 3D ss-SPIR technique that can be used with either Cartesian or radial readouts. This 3D-R ss-SPIR technique provides high image resolution and is suitable for multi-slice imaging in particular in imaging moving objects. In order to reduce SNR penalty, a modified pulse sequence is used with a low amplitude first inversion pulse, and a high amplitude second inversion pulse to provide the slice-selective inversion.
