1. Field of the Invention
The present invention is directed to a surgical instrument for the repair and reconstruction of joints and other connective tissue, wherein there is provided a tensor sleeve pivotally coupled to the distal end of a shaft. For example, it may be important to orient the instruments for resecting or otherwise treating a bone to remove a given amount of bone in a specific orientation or direction. Therefore, some endoscopic surgical instruments are provided with a clutch handle that is rotated to lock and unlock the instrument to control its movement.
