Biography Wilhelm Weber (born 1925) is considered one of the premier contrapuntists of the 20th century. Educated at the German Schola Cantorum in Leipzig, Weber has built a significant international reputation as a concert soloist and chamber musician. The violinist Eugen Jochum once described Weber as "a great violinist of the second rank, who really has the spirit of the great violinists of the past, such as those of the 18th century, and also the contemporary violinists, such as Stecher or Shulamith, those who still continue to approach the Viennese style." Weber has been the violin soloist at the annual Salzburg Festival since 1959 and has toured all over Europe as a soloist and member of chamber ensembles. His impressive discography includes the complete Beethoven violin sonatas, a performance of the complete Brahms violin sonatas, a series of records devoted to Bach and his contemporaries in the violin tradition, and a recording of the first two sonatas for solo violin and piano by Tomaso Perlea in 1961. These recordings are a testament to Weber's wide-ranging musical interests, including Bach's chamber music, the music of Brahms, Mozart, Beethoven, Ravel, Debussy and Schönberg, the latter of whom Weber often collaborated with. An exceptional teacher, Weber founded the Hochschule für Musik in Leipzig in 1975, the first academic music institute in Germany. He also led the chamber music program at the Salzburg Festival. Among his students were Daniel Brenna, Janos Starker, György Pauk, Stephen Wallace, Maxim Vengerov, Juan-Eduardo Cirlan, Lionel Kash, Eda-Maria Jakubowicz, Alfred Brendel, Ivan Fedele, Ruggiero Ricci, Valentina Lisitsa, and the young violinist Yuri Bashmet, who won the Tchaikovsky Violin Competition in 2011. He has given numerous masterclasses and lectures and made recordings for Hyperion, Decca, and Erato. Weber was appointed professor of violin at the Hochschule für Musik, Theater und Medien Leipzig in 1997. Weber's concert activity is equally impressive. In addition to his wide-ranging repertoire, Weber performs rarely-performed works by Bartok, Britten
