“As part of the FIFA community, we want to give players more control over their gameplay. That’s why we’re bringing to life the most realistic in-game football experience possible,” said Aaron McHardy, FIFA producer. “Using the new HyperMotion Technology, we could tell the difference between an offline game and a live match. The data in the suit and on the ball means that gameplay and the player’s movements are more realistic.” This technology has been further developed and is being enhanced to provide all 32 clubs with an unparalleled FIFA experience when pre-season kicks off on 15 July. “I don’t think I’ve ever played any other FIFA game like this,” FIFA 18 Producer Sam Houser said. “It will feel very much like you’re playing live. As a player, I expect to make more tactical decisions and have more control over my game.” The FIFA Interactive World Cup (FIWC) will be taking place around the world for the first time, with competitors aiming to complete challenges in real-life events in their country of origin. Nominations open to clubs and media worldwide and is open to all 18 FIFA Interactive World Cup (FIWC) categories, including National Team, Pro Clubs, Pro Leagues, Elite Pro Leagues, Youth Leagues, Open Leagues, Internet Cups, Clubs Cups, and Community Cups. To learn more about the FIWC, visit fiwc.com. New features Every street will be different, and come with its own footpaths, street furniture and unique animations. Dynamic buildings and objects in the environment react to the movement of the player and match their shape to match the surrounding geometry. This will lead to a more realistic and variable experience from one street to another. Players will experience new head movements, in which ball contacts the head, neck, chest or other body parts. When a player is tackled, the relationship between the defender and the ball will be different - the pace of the tackle will increase, and the player will move in a straight line and play possession with the defender after the ball contact. This will help players analyse the ball's position when they receive the ball and pass it quickly to the feet of their teammates. All players will be shown with a new "anticipation profile" that more accurately represents the player

Features Key:

- Get ready for the most immersive gameplay experience FIFA has ever offered. Interactive ball physics, fluid shots and goal celebrations, as well as "Exhilarating Take Ons" like Dribbling and Breakthroughs, aim to make you feel like you're actually playing out in the middle of an intense match.
- "HyperMotion Technology" - Players will be able to perform actions that they could realistically never do in real life. Players will also react to goal and goal-scoring opportunities in a more authentic way than ever.
- New User Experience - More out of the box thinking and less learning.
- Matchday atmosphere: share the emotion of the match in an official, worldwide broadcast by real-life broadcasters - while seeing your favourite teams play out the final of the FIFA World Cup live.
- Expanded user experience: From stadium design, on-pitch improvements, voice chat, kit option, new intelligent trainers, to multiple tactics and new teams and/or players, the game will give fans the FIFA experience they've never seen before.
- FIFA Ultimate Team
 - Variety of gameplay content via FIFA Ultimate Team: Play FIFA soccer matches and build your ultimate football team.
 - Developing a team filled with the players that you want to showcase your knowledge, select the tactical options that you think will best match your team's strengths, and finally put your squad to the test through all 11 positions.
 - Pick the best players and teams from across the globe from the best leagues, start chatting with your friends and challenge them to a friendly match and see who truly is the best.
 - Advance your team's development in FUT or take them all the way to the top of the soccer world in Career Mode - the possibilities are endless.
