The proposed meetings will be an important forum for the exchange of ideas, information and experience about the major problems of the western U.S. We can present the agronomy, land-use, forestry, agriculture, ecology, rural economics, and other community- based areas of concern to the membership. The program is described on the IACS Web page: [ of work capacity after acute, severe ischemic heart disease by physical rehabilitation and psychosomatic treatment]. In a randomized, controlled trial, physical training (with a structured training programme) was compared with a conventional care programme. In 42 patients with acute, severe myocardial infarction, the training programme took six weeks and included sports and fitness exercises, relaxation and psychosomatic treatments. The conventional care programme comprised medical treatment of angina pectoris and cardiac failure, ergometry, psychosomatic treatment and psychotherapy. Clinical status at the beginning and after six weeks of treatment, and at four-month follow-up (up to six months after discharge) was evaluated by means of the ECG and bicycle test as well as a clinical and self-assessment. While both groups showed an improvement in their clinical and functional status, the training group improved significantly more. Differences remained even at four-month follow-up.
