Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a method of verifying the correctness of an arrangement of an LSI (Large Scale Integration) chip, which is produced by arranging, in a predetermined sequence, multiple LSI chips. 2. Description of the Related Art FIG. 16 shows the structure of an LSI chip in which multiple chips are arranged in a predetermined sequence. Each LSI chip has a first polysilicon electrode 102, a second polysilicon electrode 103, an insulation film 104 having such a thickness as to cover the two electrodes 102 and 103, and a gate insulation film 105. FIG. 17 shows a case where LSI chips of the type shown in FIG. 16 are arranged in a predetermined sequence. Referring to FIG. 17, a base layer (usually polysilicon) film 102 for forming the first polysilicon electrode 102 is formed on a first film of SiO<sub>2</sub> (or a first film of SiO<sub>2</sub> formed on a silicon wafer substrate) 103 which is an insulation film. The first film of SiO<sub>2</sub> 103 is covered with an insulation film 106 which is an insulation film for separating neighboring first polysilicon electrodes 102 from each other and which is the insulation film 104 shown in FIG. 16. A second film of polysilicon (or a second film of polysilicon formed on a silicon wafer substrate) 103 for forming the second polysilicon electrode 103 is formed on the insulation film 106. A pattern is formed by a step of etching the first polysilicon film 102 for forming the first polysilicon electrode 102, the second polysilicon film 103 for forming the second polysilicon electrode 103, and the insulation film 106 which are polysilicon films, and by a step of selectively etching the insulation film 104 which is a silicon oxide film. A pattern is similarly formed by a step of etching the insulation film 106 and the silicon wafer substrate 103. A pattern is further formed by a step of removing the second film of polysilicon and the insulation film 106 between neighboring first polysilicon electrodes 102. The first polysilicon electrode 102, the second polysilicon electrode 103, and the insulation film 104 between the first polysilicon electrode 102 0cc13bf012
