The Winged Sakura series of games continue adding new features and content to the genre-defining flight sim. From time to time, we come up with new ideas that add unique flair to the flight experience. We love the Wings' vision of the genre and we are always hard at work on its development. As such, Winged Sakura: Endless Dream, a completely fresh and updated version of the original Winged Sakura, is due to arrive to PC on September 14th. Our goal is to leave a mark on the industry and create a fascinating piece of software that will cater to the tastes of everyone, from arcade game fans to simulation enthusiasts.

KOLKATA: In a move that will fill the ranks with qualified doctors in Kolkata, the state government has said that all dispensaries will be merged with government hospitals. The state health department has informed that dispensaries, though functioning as autonomous bodies, are linked with public health sector for the supply of drugs. "It has been decided that dispensaries will be merged with the state-run hospitals by next year," state health minister Kunal Ghosh said in Kolkata on Friday, adding that it was the government's endeavour to provide quality health services to the people. The state health department has informed that dispensaries, though functioning as autonomous bodies, are linked with public health sector for the supply of drugs. Noting that the services provided by the dispensaries would be provided to the needy people in the state under the supervision of the hospitals, Ghosh said that the initiative of the state government would help to reduce dependency on chemical laboratory reports by a large extent. The issue of dispensaries merging with hospitals is going to be discussed at the meeting of the state executive council which is scheduled to be held on Saturday. "Govt. is committed to put in place a reliable system for providing quality medical facilities," state finance minister Amit Mitra said while talking to the press. Amid the nationwide shortage of medical staff in health establishments, the state government had announced the establishment of medical colleges from this academic session to ensure better availability of health service in colleges as well as dispensaries. Three new dispensaries are coming up in district headquarters of Howrah, Bolpur and Baharampur, Ghosh said. Consolidation of dispensaries is a measure taken by the state government to reduce the burden of the rural health department, which comes under the state health department. The state government in
