Hypercalcemia is a clinical finding that can be due to a genetic alteration. It is a symptom which requires immediate attention for differential diagnosis purposes, for which sweat test is a useful tool. We present two cases of hereditary hyperparathyroidism in which the differential diagnosis with hypercalcemia of other etiologies was not suggested, and in which the sweat test was used to make a specific diagnosis.

WETHERSFIELD — A Providence man is facing charges after he allegedly left a family near death while tending to his own wounds after being stabbed Friday night, Wethersfield Police Chief Wade Webster said.

Stephanie Joose, 37, was sitting in a vehicle in a parking lot near Pattin Street and Route 138 early Saturday morning when a man approached and began to assault her, Webster said. The man was bleeding from multiple stab wounds and when he tried to flee, he was arrested. It was unclear how Joose got injured. It wasn't immediately known what, if any, charges the man was facing. Aiden Aviles, 16, was sitting in the back of the vehicle when the stabbing occurred. "I looked out my window and I was like ‘Oh, my gosh’ and he was covered in blood,” he said. “He said, ‘Are you all right?’ and I said, ‘Yeah, I don’t know what just happened.’” Both the suspect and victim were taken to the hospital. a week and a half after the move and showing signs of improvement over the last few days. My birthday was around that time too, so that probably helped! I don't plan on getting too many pics of my pretty baby though until he's ready to come home (around 4-6 months at the earliest). He will be crawling in a couple of weeks and I want to make sure he's not in any pain as he tries to figure out how to move
