Roblox is an online game platform and game creation system developed by Roblox Corporation that allows users to program games and play games created by other users. Created by David Baszucki and Erik Cassel in 2004 and released in 2006, the platform hosts user-created games of multiple genres coded in the programming language Lua. For most of Roblox's history, it was relatively small, both as a platform and a company. Roblox began to grow rapidly in the second half of the 2010s, and this growth has been accelerated by the COVID-19 pandemic. Roblox is free to play, with in-game purchases available through a virtual currency called Robux. As of August 2020, Roblox had over 164 million monthly active users, including more than half of all American children under 16. Although Roblox has received generally positive reviews from critics, it has faced criticism for its moderation, microtransactions, and exploitative practices directed toward children. History The Roblox Website was launched on March 30, 2006, replacing a defunct system of user-created games called "Ben There, Dan That!", which was launched in August 2004. Roblox is owned and operated by Roblox Corporation, an American game development company based in San Mateo, California. Roblox Corporation was founded on January 12, 2011. Roblox Corporation is a subsidiary of Colopl, Inc. and was initially merged with Colopl, Inc. to form "Colopl, Inc.", with Roblox Corporation becoming a wholly owned subsidiary. On March 31, 2014, Roblox Corporation was split off as a separate publicly traded company, Roblox, Inc. On June 19, 2014, Roblox, Inc. changed its name to Roblox Corporation. Roblox Corporation was founded on January 12, 2011. In September 2017, the company announced plans to discontinue its Ludum Dare game jam community competition in favor of a subscription service called Ludi.com, which launched in September 2018. On December 15, 2012, Roblox Corporation declared Chapter 7 bankruptcy, citing a decline in revenue. Roblox Corporation emerged from Chapter 7 bankruptcy on December 17, 2012, after several banks confirmed a $50 million loan. Roblox Corporation and an affiliated company emerged from the Chapter 7 bankruptcy in March 2013, and obtained a loan to fund Roblox Corporation's fourth round of funding. In June 2013, as part of
